IN KANSAS 73 YEARS
 HUSBAND OF MRS. MAHANY SLAIN
 DURING QUANTRELL'S RAID.

Mrs. A.B. MAHANY, 1273 Polk street, has been a continuous resident of Kansas since 1855—a period of 73 years. She holds the record thus far in The Daily Capital's effort to find the person who has lived the longest in the state.

Mrs. MAHANY moved to Lawrence in '55 from Missouri. In 1856 she was the mother of the first twins ever born in Kansas. She has resided in Topeka for the past 30 years.

She is the mother of 10 children, eight of whom are living.

Mrs. MAHANY, now 91 years old, believes she is the only QUANTRELL raid widow alive. Nearly a score of years ago, only two were left. Her husband was slain by QUANTRELL's men during the raid on Lawrence.

LIZZIE (HASKELL) FRENCH

Elizabeth Parker HASKELL FRENCH was born in Weathersfield, Vermont in 1837. She came to Kansas with her family in April 1857, and was one of the first school teachers in Lawrence. She married Charles D. FRENCH on February 25, 1865. Following is the notice of her death and funeral.

The Daily Tribune, March 29, 1877

Death and Funeral of a Good Pioneer Lady.

The whole community have heard with feelings of sorrow of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth P. FRENCH, who expired on the evening of March 27th, 1877, of cancer.

Mrs. FRENCH was the only daughter of Mr. Franklin HASKELL, one of the pioneer settlers of 1854, coming to Lawrence, we believe, with the "Second Party" of New England Immigrants, and the sister of John G. and Dudley C. HASKELL, the latter our present member of Congress. Miss HASKELL, the subject of this sketch, remained behind the family in New England, and came to Kansas in March, 1857. She was born at Weathersfield, Vermont, on the 23d of April, 1836, and was therefore almost forty-one years old.

The family were among the most respected and useful of the early pioneers. The father was a devoted Free State man, a just and upright citizen, and a true Christian, his influence and example doing much to mould the character of the infant settlement at Lawrence. The mother, whose death preceded that of the daughter but a few months, was truly a pioneer mother to all who needed the good offices of a charitable, intelligent Christian woman.

Miss HASKELL was married to Mr. Charles D. FRENCH, at Springfield, Mass., on the 25th day of February, 1865, where the mother and daughter were visiting relatives during that year. After marriage, they removed to Leavenworth, residing there two years, and then coming to a home on the well known Haskell homestead, adjoining Lawrence.

This excellent lady united with the Congregational church in her New England home when a young girl, and has lived the life of a true Christian woman. For several years she belonged to the choir of the Plymouth Congregational Church, the first organized church in Lawrence. She was one of the pioneer teachers in the free schools of Lawrence, taking charge of a school, more as a matter of duty in the days when good teachers were wanted, than from pecuniary motives, and those who received the rudiments of an education in the old Unitarian church on the hillside will long remember the amiable, kind-hearted teacher, whose devotion to her duties laid deep the foundation of usefulness and virtue. Perhaps at that period, there could have been no person selected for such duties who was her superior in every respect, as added to her innate goodness of heart, she had all the elements of a studious character and a finished education, having been well educated in the best institutions of learning in New England. In all the positions of neighbor, daughter, sister and wife she fulfilled well her part, and goes to rest with the pure in heart who have the promise of the Everlasting Blessing, revered, respected, and beloved as only the good daughter, sister, wife and friend can be. Among those who knew her, the tear will come unbidden at the news of the death of one whose life has been so blameless and so useful.

The last sad rites were performed at the residence of her bereaved husband this afternoon, at which Rev. Mr. SPRING, her last pastor, and Rev. Dr. CORDLEY, so long the pastor of her church, gave the last ministrations to the memory of a beloved sister. A large concourse of sympathizing friends attended the funeral, the following pall-bearers officiating: Messrs. L. BULLENE, H.W. BAKER, Albert ALLEN, G. GROVENOR, O.A. HANSCOMB, and S.A. RIGGS. All that remains of the good woman were laid in a pleasant lot, beside the venerated father, mother and brother, but a few steps from the door of the pioneer cabin where she and they had so long been known for their kind hospitality in the "times that tried men's souls," to sleep the last sleep of the good and the just.

"There shall the yew her sable branches spread,
And mournful cypress rear her fringed head;
From thence shall thyme and myrtle send perfume,
And laurel evergreen o'ershade the tomb."

The deceased was a long sufferer to the insidious disease which resulted in death, being cancer of the breast. Nearly two years ago, she underwent a surgical operation, and for a time believed that the cure was permanent.

Mrs. FRENCH leaves behind her a husband universally respected, and three little children—a daughter and two sons—one of them an infant, too young to have any appreciation of the loss of a mother, to them the whole community give their sympathy for the irreparable loss.

At the Quincy High School Reunion, June 1, 1882, fellow teacher Mary BOUGHTON BROOKS said of Lizzie HASKELL (Western Home Journal, June 8, 1882):

"In answering to the name just called, I only need say, what every one who knew her could truthfully say, that she was kind and loving in disposition, an intelligent and conscientious teacher, a faithful and devoted wife and mother. What higher praise can be said of any?"

"Coming to the Territory when there were comparatively few young ladies, her influence was always extended for the good of those with whom she associated."

"Her first year in Kansas was spent with her father and mother, on a farm adjoining town."

"My first meeting with Miss HASKELL, was at a church social given at the residence of Miss HALL, and my impressions of her then were that she was a lady of culture and refinement, which future acquaintance fully confirmed."

"As a teacher she was successful, and her refining influence has no doubt helped to mould the lives of some that are here to-day."

The following was written about her in the Western Home Journal, April 5, 1877.

"She was a woman of great energy of character and of unusual sweetness of disposition. Her attachments were strong, her circle of friends a wide one, and her name a synonym of benevolence and goodness wherever she was known. During the last few years she has been a great sufferer from the terrible malady that finally terminated her life, but throughout it all she has borne up with the most wonderful fortitude, furnishing a daily example to friends and neighbors of patience under suffering and of the triumph of a great spirit over the sorrows and distresses of failing physical life."

"The death of such a woman is a public loss. She will be missed from her family, from the church, from society at large. But her memory shall be blessed. Her example shall live long in the community, and when the grass shall have become green over her grave her name shall still be held in sweet and sacred remembrance by those who loved her."

a Large Attendance to Lawrence

The thirteenth annual session of the Federation of Colored Women's clubs, of Kansas, began its meeting this morning at St. Luke's A.M.E. church, with an attendance of over 200 delegates from various parts of the state. The meeting is one of the largest and the program one of the best ever planned.

The art and fancy work exhibit in connection with the meeting is shown in the basement of the church where seventeen booths have been fitted up to make necessary showing. This exhibit is very fine and especially appeals to the women folks, and the members of the federation would be very glad to have the white women interested in that sort of thing inspect the splendid display that has been made.

Wakarusa

Miss Mira FITZ and her sister Emma, are still busy hauling lumber.
 They have got through hauling brick and sand for their cistern, which a great many people in this section of the country will find quite a necessary article to have in these dry times. Miss Laura FITZ started out to give music lessons, but had to return home on account sickness.
 The old lady is in the best of health and is one of those wirey little women that can go to see a sick neighbor at any and all times of day or night; in fact, one that cannot be well spared in the community where she lives. Mira takes up school at Stony Point school house on Monday next.

ELLA LANE ADAMS

Ella LANE ADAMS was the eldest daughter of Sen. James H. and Mary E. LANE. Following is her eulogy given by Mrs. Hannah FELT CLARKE at the twenty-fifth reunion of the Quincy High School, June 1, 1882. It was published in the Western Home Journal, June 8, 1882.

More than twenty-two years ago I used to reach my school-room here on some of those bleak mornings, when the wind pierced to the very marrow of one's bones (as it often did in the winters of those pioneer days) to find the house blue with smoke and the stove filled with green logs of ponderous size and so watery that if Mr. DICK had been consulted as to the best mode of getting a fire, I am positive he would have ordered, as a first necessity, a thorough wringing out of the wood. But if the chimney smoked, the north breeze came in vigorously enough about the windows to render it unnecessary to have other than such primitive modes of ventilation. On those days of gloom I sometimes crossed the hall into Mr. ADAMS room here to see if it was as dismal as in my own quarters, and to exchange those common place remarks about the weather, which I suppose have been made from the time Adam so kindly furnished the apple he had not the courage to first taste, and which will continue to be made until good conversationalists shall exist more numerously than at present. It was at such times that I observed a slight flaxen-haired girl of coquettish air, who flitted about with easy grace among her school-mates, casting mischievous glances towards her teacher whose slightly frowning eyebrows did not deter her from her ways of girlish frolicsomeness, and I thought it was not difficult than to presume she might be "the favorite scholar."

Later in the summer of that year (1860) such predictions were verified; for it was then that Ella LANE and Charles ADAMS were married, although Mrs. ADAMS continued to remain at her home. When the war commenced, her husband—who later proved himself a brave and fearless officer, eager to fight as well as to lead—left her still at her father's house; and he was yet absent when she buried her first lovely little girl of but seventeen months; and again a few years later, she was bereft of still another of two years. But slight as she was physically she bore her losses with great fortitude (for she had been a loving mother) maintaining that same sprightly and affectionate disposition which her early girlhood gave promise of. Married at the age of sixteen, she always seemed to enjoy life and made it pleasant for those around her for the space of thirteen years afterward. At the early age of twenty-nine her life here went out; but who can doubt but that in that world, of which we know so little and look forward to for so much, she is waiting with the same old loving tenderness which characterized her life here, to welcome those dear friends she parted with, with such heroic cheerfulness nine years ago.

DEATH OF MRS. ADAMS

The melancholy tidings of the death of Mrs. Ella LANE ADAMS, wife of Col. C.W. ADAMS, briefly announced in the morning papers of yesterday, was received with the profoundest grief by a wide circle of affectionate friends and admiring acquaintances. In all the relations of daughter, mother, sister, wife and friend she was faithful, devoted, gentle, self sacrificing and affectionate. The fatal scourge, consumption, had fastened itself upon her and despite travel and skillful treatment dragged her on to the final catastrophe.

Ella, eldest daughter of Jas. H. and Mary E. LANE, was born in Lawrenceville, Indiana, in 1845, and at the early age of ten accompanied her parents to their new home in Kansas, and with them shared to a great degree the perils and privations of pioneer life in the earliest days.

In 1861 she was united in wedlock to Col. C.W. ADAMS and subsequently became the mother of two children, soon to be transplanted from earth to bloom in the garden of God.

Some two years since, during the protracted revival in this city, she became interested in religious matters, made a profession of faith and joined the Methodist Episcopal church, of which she has since remained a zealous, devoted and consistent member. Hers was a religion of practice as well as precept. She was prominent in every good word, work and enterprise. She was an ever present and active member of the Sunday school and was the promptest link in the "Golden Chain." The sincere sympathies of the entire community are extended to her bereaved family and mourning friends.

"There is no death! What seems so is transition,

This life is mortal breath;

Is but a suburb of the live elysium,

Whose portal we call death.

* * * * *

In that greater cloister, stillness and seclusion,

By guardian angels led,

Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution,

She lives, whom we call dead."

FUNERAL:—The ceremonies attending the funeral of Mrs. Col. ADAMS will take place at the Methodist church at two o'clock this afternoon.

Daily Kansas Tribune, Jan. 29, 1874

FUNERAL OF MRS. ADAMS

The funeral obsequies of this estimable lady were very generally attended yesterday. The procession from the homestead reached the Methodist church about half past two. The church was thronged, and upon the remains entering the church an appropriate selection was sung by the choir. Rev. W.K. MARSHALL read Scripture selections, and followed in fervent prayer that God would comfort the mourners. The choir then sang "Lips I have kissed, ye are faded and cold." Afterward remarks were made by the Rev. J.K. DUNN and Mr. MARSHALL. The members of her class in the Sunday school were present, to the number of thirteen. The coffin was of black velvet with silver ornaments. The pall bearers were lady friends of the deceased. There was a beautiful banner hanging in front of the altar shrouded in black representing a "Golden Chain," to one end of which was attached a cross, surmounted with a crown. The other end was attached to a pillar labelled "Eternal Truth," with a Holy Bible resting on the top. The center link of the chain was broken out and could be seen held by a shadowy hand from among some clouds. Underneath was "Golden Chain" in large letters.

After prayer by Rev. Mr. CORDLEY, the choir sung "Sister, thou wert mild and lovely." And after the remains were viewed by the friends, they were borne to the grave at Oak Hill cemetery where the usual ceremonies attended the interment.

According to the 1874-75 Lawrence City Directory, James H. LANE lived on the southeast corner of Illinois and Henry [8th street], and C.W. ADAMS lived on the corner of Mississippi and Henry [8th street].

Fifty Years in Kansas

Mrs. Rebecca HARVEY, mother of the HARVEY boys, Sunday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her arrival in Kansas. More than 200 birthday cards were received from friends near and far, who remembered the occasion. There was no attempt at any big dinner or anything of that nature, but a few friends called and made the day a most pleasant one for her.

HIS GRAVE UNMARKED.

Mr. NICHOLS' Wife Made Possible
 Women Voting at School Elections

It may be of interest to the people of Baldwin and vicinity, and especially to those interested in Kansas History, to know that the remains of the husband of the woman whose influence put the section into the state constitution allowing women to vote at school elections, is buried in an unmarked grave but a short distance from Baldwin.

It was Mrs. NICHOLS who edited a newspaper at Quindaro, Kansas, in 1860, through whose influence at the Wyandotte Constitutional Convention, a convention called to form a constitution preparatory to the admission of the territory of Kansas to the union as a state, the section above mentioned was inserted. Mrs. NICHOLS afterward became noted as a lecturer on woman's suffrage and at the Chicago world's fair her statue adorned the women's department of Kansas in recognition of her services in behalf of the women of the state.

Before Mrs. NICHOLS edited the Quindaro newspaper, she lived with her husband on a "claim" southwest of town, where her husband died in 1856, and was buried only a few rods from where the first railroad bridge south of Baldwin now is located.

Some time after the husband died Mrs. NICHOLS sold her claim to a man who is at present a resident of Baldwin, and requested him to haul some rock and place on the lonely grave. The rock remained on the grave, which is located in a pasture, for a long time, but recently they have been taken away presumably by persons not knowing that those stones marked a grave, and were used, the writer supposes, in repairing the road just south of the place when the road was made a part of a rural mail route.

Mrs. NICHOLS has been dead a number of years.—Baldwin Ledger.

HALF A MILLION!

OVER $500,000 Worth of Improvements in Lawrence.

THIS YEAR'S YIELD

A List of the New Buildings Erected in the City.

OUR BUSINESS BOOM

We present our readers herewith a list of new buildings commenced and built during the present year, together with the location of each and the cost of construction. The cost has been in most cases estimated by the owners, or workmen engaged upon the construction. When not obtainable in this way it has been estimated by the editors. As no building permits are required, and no list of new buildings kept by the city authorities in this city it was an extremely difficult task to obtain the necessary data for such a list and it was only obtained by the editors of the JOURNAL after spending two days in riding over the city and noting the improvements. We have made as complete a list as possible but doubt not that some have been omitted. The total valuation foots up to the vast sum of $500,975.00. This added value alone assessed at the usual rate will bring more than enough additional taxes into our city treasury to pay the city's share for the support of the proposed water works. These figures cannot but be most encouraging to all our citizens, and they will all be proud of the marvellous growth of our city, which far exceeds any it has before enjoyed, even in the flushiest times of years gone by. This amount includes only new buildings and does not have reference to improvements in the way of additions to buildings and dwellings, stables and other improvements, the value of which would undoubtedly foot up to over two hundred thousand dollars more.

The following is the list arranged according to locating:
MASSACHUSETTS STREET.

- S.B. PIERSON's sons—Stone grain elevator; partly finished. $20,000.
 Capt. STRONG—two 2-story brick business houses; partly finished. $9,000.

 S. STEINBERG—2-story plate glass and iron front; completed. $10,000.
 F.W. APITZ—No. 122. Two-story business house, pressed brick and plate glass front; completed. $6,000.
 Mrs. Mary BARNES—No. 124. Two-story business house, fancy pressed brick and plate glass front; completed. $8,000.
 J.B. PARNHAM—No. 156. One-story brick, plate glass front; completed. $2,500. Mr. PARNHAM has during the last few years built sixteen dwellings some of them very fine.
 E.W. WOOD—two-story business house, pressed brick and plate glass front; nearly completed. $4,000.

QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL REUNION
LAWRENCE, KANSAS
JUNE 1, 1882

The second term was opened by the school singing "Oh Come, Come Away." At this term only the new names added to the roll were called.

Irene GUEST—responded to by a eulogy from Mrs. DaLEE.

Helen MESSENGER—was answered for by James FAXON.

Mary COLBURN (HARRINGTON) answered for by C.L. EDWARDS.

Susie PEARSON, now in Oregon.

Hattie GUEST (SMITH) and Mary JONES, answered for by John ROSS.

Annie FULLER, (RIGGS)—said present, and the teacher proposed to make her read her first composition, which he had there, printed in her own hand, because she did not make a longer speech.

Mary BROWN (WHITMAN) was present, but had been excused for a few minutes.

Clara FALLEY—deceased.

Lucy BURNS deceased.

Mary BURNS—was next called.

Alf. GUEST, absent.

W.H. LAMON—said, "Please, sir, can I speak," holding up his hand. He said the teacher had forbidden him to speak without permission, and was glad to know, that now, after twenty-five years' silence he could speak. He read a new composition as follows:

THE QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL REUNION.

How the memory is freighted with the recollections of boyhood and girlhood days! Lawrence and vicinity is, and has been the homes of many, and yet how the old "flock" have scattered. From Nova Scotia to California, from Florida to Dakota, and from Lake Superior to the Rio Grande, at roll-call today in thought if not in word will come the answer—Present!

And then the thought of the dear ones, boys and girls, who, before the battle of life was half fought, at the very threshold of a life of promise, were claimed by the Great Conquerer for his own and calmly and peacefully laid aside the cares and toils of life.

Among those numbered with the dead, are three of our instructors: S.M. THORP, our principal, who fell a victim in the Quantril butchery; Miss WILDER and Miss HASKELL, two as noble women as ever lived. But Miss WILDER especially do I remember and love to think about, as the most lovable, kind-hearted, gentle, affectionate, without a fault, and without an enemy, with a pleasant smile and a kind word for every one. Words are too weak to express a tribute worthy of her memory. The recollections of such a woman will always remain precious, and then those old attachments and preferences, that sometimes ripened into a strong freindship, and in a few instances a mutual affection, that culminated in union for life:—of "Two souls with but a single thought

Two hearts that beat as one."

About the same number of boys and girls have sternly resisted all the assaults of cupid's darts and are to-day living in the enjoyment of single blessedness, but by far the larger number have become the parents of doting children, who will one day rise up to call them blessed.

It may be regarded as a foolish vanity, but it is with pride that we point to the statesmen, scholars, divines, heroes, doctors, poets, legislators, whose fiery eloquence has resounded from the halls of our state and national capitols; soldiers that have given their lives for a nation's honor; such and their like have gone forth from this hall of learning a credit to their instructors and an honor to the institution.

Twenty-five years! What a change it has wrought. Raven locks then, are now silvered with gray—faces that were then flushed and rosy are now furrowed by labor and care.

Let us all cherish the memory of those blessed school days

"When all youth's hopes and promises,
Those rainbows of our skies,
Danced fourth in fairy visions
Before our wandering eyes," with their actors and events, more and more as the years roll on, and when at last the greatest of earthly Teachers, shall, on the great reunion day call the roll from the Book of Life, may we all be there to answer present, and together be permitted to enjoy the great supper of the Lamb and spend an eternity of bliss together.

Samuel LAMON—deceased.

James M. ELDRIDGE—eulogy by John ROSS.

David PURINTON, absent.

This closed the second term. The winter term commenced in November 1857.

Henry J. MUNSON and John STILL were accounted for by the teacher.

Charlie BROWN—was responded to in a brief eulogy from his sister Miss

Sarah BROWN.

Russel WHITMAN—in response to his name Miss BROWN read the following:

OAKLAND, Cal., May 23, 1882.

Here, and such a time as I have had to get in on time, 'twas only to-day I heard you were all coming together, and wanted to have every one that could, respond to their names at roll call. I can honestly say here I am, and wish in my heart I might say, there I will be, to look again into the kindly faces that I know I should find among you. Today I have been recalling those long ago days and familiar faces. I seem to see only about a dozen boys and girls of those I really knew and could call familiarly by their given names. I am pretty sure I see George, Lyman, Frank, James, Henry, John, Harry and William, the two Mary's, Alice, Lou, Clara, Miss BOUGHTON, Miss BROWN and Mr. EDWARDS. I find myself wondering what ever became of Munson and John and Mary and Martha, are they still living. Abram and Mary realized their school day dreams, are married and living near me in this beautiful sunset city. We may have our reunion here.

How indelibly all the experiences, faces, and familiar places are impressed on the youthful mind! they can never be entirely effaced while memory lasts. I see you in the old rooms, find my place among the seats, wander into the recitation room, where I banged young DOW over the head with my book because he bothered me one day while reciting, over twenty years ago now, and Miss BOUGHTON walked me "right away out" not to return till I apologized, which I did, and I believe she kissed me, but you needn't tell Paul BROOKS. And the place where my particular admiration sat; oh yes, some of the boys beside myself can remember that seat and the bright beautiful face that filled it, long since gone to be at rest with the blessed. Let us always remember just how it was with ourselves, while we have the guiding and sympathizing to do with our boys and girls. Oh! what do I say? Our own, yes, surely God has blessed us all and we may count treasures he has entrusted to our care, since the days when we were boys and girls together. If some one would read HOLMES' poem "The Boys," it would express my sentiments as I look in on you tonight.

I said, I had "such a time getting here promptly." Well, I did; you see, I may as well say it, as long as we are all friends, it was that blessed baby, came near preventing me, and if my style and manner of communication is a little mixed, you can excuse it, when you know that while my hands have been shaking yours figuratively, my feet have been, actually, rocking the cradle, to think that I should ever be called on to rock a red-headed youth of my own, is certainly very trying, the mother says it is not so, but I fear the worse. I ought not to have this job on my hands, I know, but I undertook it because I thought his grandma and nurse did not quite understand how to soothe and quiet him, so I undertook to show them, wish I hadn't, hope I may be forgiven. "Is it my first?" oh no, but some men never get over thinking that they know it all; there lies one other beautiful boy in the other room, you would see at once that as he has demanded time for his evening romp, by the time I get this other job off my hands it has made it pretty lively for me to get in on time.

But all joking aside, friends of my youth, my heart goes out to you, and the old familiar scenes in Kansas. My last school days were spent in the room where you now are. In your midst I passed through fire, famine, and flood, learned my mechanical art, and was started on life's journey. To those who held a directing influence over my life then, I owe many thanks. I wish I had repaid them better then. There is one sweet spirit now departed who won all hearts to her, who I am sure has received her reward from the Master for her faithfulness and care for the souls that came within her sphere.

You cannot all be as deeply touched as I am at this reunion, for as I sit so far away in the quiet solitude of my chamber, in the lone watches of the night, on this western shore, all these memories troop before me like the changes of a panorama, gay and sad, while your pleasure is that of personal contact, and enhanced by the magnetism of the senses. Still we shall enjoy it, each in their own way.

May God bless you, dear companions, and your little ones; may they be brought up in the fear and admonition of the Lord, and above all things show them the way, lead them in paths of righteousness, that they may be brought into the way of heavenly blessings as you have. I send you greeting.

Yours Truly,

RUSSELL WHITMAN.

John DONNELLY was answered for by the following letter, also read by Miss BROWN:

C.L. EDWARDS, Lawrence, Kansas:

MY DEAR SIR:—It is with great pride that I am enabled to acknowledge the receipt of your very kind note to attend the reunion of those who were students at school in Lawrence during the time intervening between the years 1857 and 1863.

All and the only education it has been my good fortune to receive, was gained when I was comparatively at manhood.

Please believe me, sir, when I say that my heart and sympathy in the cause of education is ever with you.

I am your friend,

JOHN DONNELLY.

Edward BELLOWS (son of Rev. Dr. BELLOWS in New York), died in Texas. James P. WOOD, deceased.

Levi B. ANDERSON was responded to by W.H. LAMON, with the following eulogy:

"L.B. ANDERSON was one of our oldest scholars. His early education had been much neglected, but he was a ready learner and made study his business, and was soon the foremost in his class, which position he easily held. He was a bright thinker and ready writer. His was a kindly disposition; always ready and willing to help his classmates in their studies. Little is known of his after life only that he emigrated to the Golden State, where he died."

Arthur LORING, answered for by James FAXON.

Wm. MOYES, was eulogized by W.H. LAMON as follows:

Wm. MOYES was a native of England. His parents immigrated to America when he was a child, and located in Illinois. He came to Kansas in 1857. At the beginning of the war, he enlisted in Capt. SWIFT's Company, Kansas First Regiment, and was wounded in the memorable battle of Wilson's Creek.

Returned to his regiment the following spring, and with it went to Tennessee, but was soon afterwards honorably discharged.

In 1863 he went to Colorado for the benefit of his health and was in Denver at the time of QUANTRIL's raid.

Died Nov. 5, 1869, aged thirty years. He had been sick a few days of pneumonia, but the real cause of his death was his old wound through the body received while in the army.

Osbn SHANNON—absent.

Frankie MILLER, (FARNSWORTH)—answered for by H.T. ROSS.

Mary GRIFFITH, (WHITCOMB)—was reported by Mrs. Dr. PRENTISS.

Louisa PRENTISS (SIMPSON)—present.

Darlisca RICHARDS (PENCHARD)—present.

Will BULLENE, answered present.

Neill DONNELLY, absent.

John O. DUNCAN reported in Black Hills.

Wm. MARTIN, was reported by James FAXON, who read the following letter:

Colorado City, Tex.,

May 26, 1882

Mr. C.L. EDWARDS, Miss S.A. BROWN and others, Lawrence, Kansas.

Greeting:—Since the sterner duties of life deny to me the pleasure of being with you at the time indicated in the notice of reunion. I shall venture to avail myself of the only method left me, to extend you my best wishes for the success of the reunion of our old school. When I saw your invitation, so kindly sent me, there came welling up into my heart and mind a thousand memories of the times and scenes of long ago, and now whilst I try to extend to you my heartfelt greeting on this your quarter-centennial anniversary there passes in review before my mind's eye the humble little town of Lawrence, as it appeared in 1855, a mere speck as it were, on "civilization's utmost verge," struggling for a respectable position among the towns and cities then springing up into notice along the banks of the great tributary of the West. Associated with you as teacher and pupil, under your guidance I first felt the inspirations of manhood, and it was during the years that I had the benefit of your tutelage, that I first began to put into definite shape the teachings with which you so carefully loaded my boyish mind. When I look back through the retrospect of past events and see my comrades and friends as we then stood gathered within the kindly sound of your voices, methinks I live again in the past. But when I reflect upon the proud position to which your city, and justly in part to your efforts have attained: remembering too, the troublous times the bad men and measures we have lived through, I concluded that it is by far better that it is as we now find it, letting the dead past bury its dead, uniting our efforts with them who are left, in building up the waste places. For one I shall always point with pride and sincere respect to my old school room and remember with feelings, akin to veneration those who first tried to teach me there.

The name of Lawrence, and my old associates, will be dear to me as long as life remains. Again, wishing for you all the success you so richly deserve I remain,

Very Respectfully,
WM. MARTIN.

Geo. H. PERRY, deceased.

Ernest and Henry SOLOMON,—answered for by W.L. BULLENE.

Frank DINSMOOR said he belonged to the infant class of the old school, and could remember but little of it. He did remember of the teacher coming into the primary department and whipping a scholar one day, and it was well done.

Mr. EDWARDS said that on account of DINSMOOR's age he should have to forgive him for his error, but said that in all his teaching in Kansas he never struck a scholar a blow—Miss BROWN did the whipping on that occasion, and his recollection was that she did it well.

LAMON said if the teacher did not whip, he knew how to pull hair.

Mary SPEER (NEFF), Fanny ROSS (BANGS), and Mary SUTHERLAND (PICKETT), responded to their names.

Sybil A. DUNCAN (RAY),—absent

Anna DINSMOOR, deceased.

Flora HUTCHINSON—responded to by Mrs. George BANKS, who read the following letter:

Washington, D.C.

922 O. St., N.W., May 26, '82.

C.L. EDWARDS:

Dear Friend:—I feel impelled to write and tell you how deeply I regret not being able to be present, and to assure you that in spirit I shall surely be with you all. I envy the birds their wings that I might soar away and away, until I should be among you.

Since your invitation came, I have scarcely been able to control my thought, they have been crowded so full of olden memories, and I have lived over again, many of the happy days gone by, when our greatest sorrow was having to submit to the higher powers, a cross though light, very far from gracefully borne, heavy it looked to us then, and all that mortal could bear, but could the veil which hid the future, suddenly have been lifted, would not some of our hearts have been broken? "Wisely for us, behind the sable veil of night, God hides the future."

So you are to meet in the old school room. How plainly I can see it now, and I think I could seat nearly every pupil, and I shall never forget how proud I felt when I became one of the number to take a "front seat." There is a kind of sacred feeling in my heart for the old room and its associations, and though my children will never gaze upon the spot, I shall take one more look at it myself when I visit Lawrence this fall. By the way, considering what I am, not a Jumbo exactly, but fully as great a curiosity in my way i.e. an "old maid," I almost wonder you did not wait until I came, and how I wish you had! Your invitation asks those who cannot be present to write something for the occasion, but I, for one, feel as though such things would be somewhat tiresome, unless someone had the gift of pen picturing which I have not, so I have asked a friend to take a bouquet in my name, and let the flowers speak for me.

Though I trust the reunion will be one of pleasure to all still a feeling of sadness will creep through my mind when thoughts of those who have crossed the river come to you, as come they will, for "there is no flock however watched and tended, but one dead lamb is there," and out of our flock several have been taken.

But this is no time for tears, and they will come if I think in that direction much longer.

Please write soon and tell me all about the merry making. I shall be so anxious to hear.

I hope they may be as boys and girls together again, for a few short hours, throwing aside care and trouble and forgetting the years that have intervened.

Ruth COLLIER, (JONES) present.

Frances COLLIER, (WATT) present.

Eben CROCKER, present.

Osgood A. COLEMAN, was answered for by John ROSS.

Lucy PATTERSON (CLARK) present.

Hattie ANDERSON, (ELLIOT) present.

Kate BULLENE, (GAY) was answered by W.L. BULLENE.

SPRING TERM, 1868. [1858]

Mrs. Sarah A. SMITH was answered for by the teacher

Clara ARCHIBALD was responded to by Miss BROWN who read the following letter.

Dear Mr. EDWARDS:

Your invitation to attend the quarter-centennial reunion and picnic of the teachers and scholars of the Lawrence schools to be held in the school-room of the Unitarian church on the 1st of June is received, and there is nothing I would like so much as to be with you and meet my teachers and the scholars with whom I was so pleasantly associated in the old school days, but it is impossible and in compliance with request I send a letter.

You ask for "reminiscences." It was in the spring of 1859, I think, when I first entered your school. One of my earliest and most pleasant remembrances is hearing the big boys speak their "pieces" at the Friday afternoon rhetorical exercises. The exercises of one Friday afternoon especially lingers in my memory, perhaps because I was more than usually pleased with at least two of the recitations. The speakers were John ROSS and a boy we called Dudley HASKELL. The latter declaimed Spartacus' speech to the Gladiators. We youngsters, on the front seats, little thought then that we were listening to the future member of Congress, who so ably and honorably represents our state in Washington, and of whom Kansas, and especially his own people of Lawrence, are so deservedly proud. I forget what was the subject of John ROSS declamation, but him I remember very well, also another of the "big boys" whose name is on the printed invitation, "Will LAMON." Whether Mr. ROSS or Mr. LAMON have acquired titles, in all these years, and ought to be dignified with a prefix of Hon., Judge or Colonel to their names, I do not know. I have forgotten whether "Jimmie FAXON" attended your school or not, but I know that he as well as myself, were members of Mr. THORP's school. The name of this excellent and well beloved teacher calls up one of the very saddest memories that the troublous times of Kansas afford, as well as that of his first assistant teacher, Mrs. CARPENTER, whose husband was also murdered by QUANTRELL on that never-to-be-forgotten August day. And so the memories are not all pleasant. The roll call will not be responded to by many who were with us in those old days. Miss Lucy WILDER, your chief assistant is another whose presence among you will be missed. I remember her better than any of the other teachers who were connected with you in the management of the schools, for I was in her classes. I used to be just a little bit afraid of you, Mr. EDWARDS, though I should not be now, I'm sure.

You ask that names be reported to you so that the roll may be complete. My brothers, F.W. and C.P. ARCHIBALD, attended school in the old church during the years mentioned. They were neither of them in your department in those early days, but were with Mrs. SUTLIFF, Miss HOLLISTER, I think her name was then.

I do sincerely wish that I could be present at your reunion and banquet, but as this is not possible, I send these few thoughts with my "counterfeit presentment" to represent me.

Though I have been absent from Kansas and Lawrence so long, I have not forgotten nor lost my affection for the place or the people, and am proud and happy to consider myself one of you still.

With the most hearty good will to all present, and kind regards to those who remember me, I am, yours, very truly,

CLARA M. ARCHIBALD.

Augusta LONGFELLOW (DUNN) was answered for by her brother.

Lizzie COLTON (WRIGHT) was responded to by Mrs. A. MARKS, who read the following letter:

Suffield, Conn., May 29, 1882.

Mr. C.L. EDWARDS.

Dear Sir:—I have just received from my sister, Mrs. J.G. SEEWIR, a note wishing me to attend the reunion of teachers and pupils, to be held in your city, June 1st. I regret exceedingly that it will be impossible for me to be present, but rest assured, in spirit I shall be with you. I attended school in Lawrence from the spring of 1858 to that of 1872, under the teachings of yourself, Miss Lucy WILDER, Miss HOLLISTER (now Mrs. SUTLIFF I believe) Miss Lizzie HASKELL, Miss BARBER, Mr. Charles and Mr. Frank ADAMS and Mr. THORPE. How often have I wished during the latter years when thinking of old times, that I was once again a child in the old school-room under the church; although during school life we have our little trials. I used to think so, especially when I was delinquent in bringing in my composition sometimes, and you would send me home to write it. I remember one Monday morning Lou PRENTISS and I both came without one and you asked our reasons for so doing; after hearing them you reminded us of the rule in regard to such disobedience. We took our hats and writing materials and went up on Mount Oread in the basement of the present university. I have forgotten about the compositions but I know we spent a most delightful morning. In the winter when there was snow enough, how we did enjoy sliding down Mount Oread. Memory often goes back to those old days and I seem to see before me the well remembered faces of Josie, Allie and Emma ELDRIDGE, Mollie and Emma JENKINS, Mary ANDERSON, Annie FULLER, Emma and Nellie ENOS, Susie FAXON, Martha and Will LAMON, Jimmie FAXON, John and Henry ROSS, Lyman PRENTISS and many, many others. But I fear I am occupying too much of your time. With a kindly and affectionate greeting to all present and dropping a tear for those who have passed to the other shore, I remain your old pupil,

MRS. M. LIZZIE COLTON (WRIGHT).

Annie MILLER, answered to her own name.

MARY BOUGHTON BROOKS

MARY (BOUGHTON) BROOKS.

Mary BOUGHTON BROOKS was one of the early teachers and a prominent figure of Lawrence. She died at her residence, 1433 Tennessee street on December 30, 1926, at the age of 89. The following article was found in a scrapbook of obituaries taken from the newspapers, called "Lawrence Necrology" at the Lawrence Public Library. No newspaper name nor date were given.

Mrs. Paul R. BROOKS

Mrs. BROOKS, before her marriage was Miss Mary Angeline BOUGHTON. She was born June 13, 1837, in Cayuga county, N.Y., the daughter of of the Rev. Alanson BOUGHTON, a Baptist minister, and Mrs. Hannah SQUIRES BOUGHTON.

Miss BOUGHTON came to Kansas in 1847 [1857] with a married sister. The sister and her family soon returned to their old home. Not so the stout-hearted pioneer, Mary BOUGHTON. She stayed and soon was teaching in the early school in the basement of the old Unitarian church.

The year after her arrival in Lawrence on October 3, 1858, she was married to Paul R. BROOKS. The wedding was one of great interest and has often been described. It was the first church wedding in Lawrence and took place at the old Methodist church at 724 Vermont street.

Mr. BROOKS came to Lawrence in 1854 and took a prominent part in all the affairs of the new town. He continued almost to the end of his days active in official and business life. He died December 17, 1916.

From the time of their marriage until Mr. BROOKS' death, Mr. and Mrs. BROOKS were leaders in the civic and social life of Lawrence. Their home, at first the small house of the pioneers, soon, in the '60s, their spacious and beautiful home on the slope of Mt. Oread, was one of the centres of generous, joyous hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. BROOKS had no children of their own but they loved the young. A younger sister of Mrs. BROOKS almost as soon as the University opened and a nephew of Mr. BROOKS, a few years later, were sent for from other states to make their home with them, and to be educated to splendid manhood and womanhood in the University. This sister and nephew both delight to give to those dear relatives the credit for all they have attained through their university education.

Mr. and Mrs. BROOKS also opened their home, when commodious homes were fewer than now, to University student roomers. Music and books, good company and good cheer, and the warm friendliness of their host and hostess made life-long friendships between hosts and guests.

In recent years Mrs. BROOKS has enjoyed cordial relations with the fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, whose house was the home of her old neighbors, Judge John P. USHER and family, and invitations from the Betas and roses from Mrs. BROOKS frequently passed forth between the two.

Mrs. BROOKS was large-hearted, a woman of broad interests, one who made many friends and kept them through life, one whose membership was sought in all kinds of organizations. She lived full of activities to the end. She kept up her large house and her extensive greenhouses, living among the flowers she loved, selling them and distributing them lavishly as gifts.

On the morning of December 30, 1926, having gone to bed in her usual health the night before, she was found peacefully sleeping the last sleep. There was no indication that her passing had been attended by the slightest agitation. Thus another book of the homes of Lawrence was closed. The house will pass to stranger, but for the life lived in it, the life of Lawrence will always be better and happier.

Following is more information taken from her obituary in the Lawrence Daily Journal-World, December 30, 1926:

Although Mr. and Mrs. BROOKS were absent from town at the time of the Quantrill raid, their material possessions suffered. Coming to Lawrence with the free state men in 1854 as a lad of twenty, Mr. BROOKS was devoted wholeheartedly to the free state cause and was marked for slaughter by the pro-slavery forces. His house in Lawrence was the first to which the torch was applied. His store was burned in the first raid on Lawrence in 1856.

The location of Mr. BROOKS' store is marked by a stone placed near the office of the Underwood company on north Massachusetts st. The store was an open log cabin.

At the time Territorial Governor Robert J. WALKER marched against Lawrence with 1,500 troops, Mr. BROOKS was a member of the city council. The troops were camped west of town for several weeks. The free state council defied the governor and his forces and continued its program which had aroused antagonism.

Since the death of Mr. BROOKS, Mrs. BROOKS had continued the business of her greenhouse and had retained her vigor and her interest in all affairs in a remarkable way.

The funeral of Mrs. BROOKS will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dr. John F. WATTS will have charge of the services.

1858 - 1883

Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Brooks

Last evening about one hundred and twenty-five of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Brooks assembled at their residence on Tennessee street to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Most of the guests present were old residents of the city, many of them having attended their wedding ceremony which took place in Lawrence in the fall of 1858. The house was very beautifully decorated with flowers of every variety and in every shape imaginable. In the parlor the figures 1858-1883 composed of most beautiful flowers, occupied a conspicuous position on the walls. There were bouquets in each room and the chandeliers were decorated with smilax and other delicate vines.

At about nine o'clock the company was called to order, and Hon. Dudley C. Haskell in an appropriate little speech presented the happy couple with an elegant silver service in behalf of a number of their friends. At about ten o'clock supper was announced and was served in the spacious green-house adjoining the house. The green-house had been tastily decorated with blooming plants and running vines of every description and the interior being lighted with Chinese lanterns presented a very brilliant appearance. Harris the indispensable caterer was there, of course, and served up the supper, as only Harris can. The remainder of the evening was passed very pleasantly in conversation and music, Miss Mary Deidrich singing several very beautiful solos, and others favoring the company with piano solos. It was a late hour when the guests began to disperse, each one lingering at the door to give a farewell greeting and to promise to be present at the golden wedding in 1908.

MRS. WILLIAM BROWN

Jane SHIELDS was born at Banbridge, county Down, Ireland, March 1, 1840. She was the daughter of James SHIELDS and Mary BARR SHIELDS. The SHIELDS came to Wisconsin and settled at Sharon, where Jane SHIELDS was married to William BROWN, January 8, 1859. The young couple came at once to Kansas and settled in Douglas county. Here Mrs. BROWN passed through all the experiences of the pioneer women, hard work, privation, isolation and peril.

Mr. BROWN was engaged in dairying near Lawrence. In the 60's the BROWNS bought the beautiful farm southwest of the University, where they both spent their remaining years. On this farm, Mr. BROWN built and operated the first grist mill in this part of the country to be run by steam.

In Quantrill's raid the retreat of the raiders led them past Pleasant View farm. Mr. BROWN set out to join whatever defensive organization might be found. Mrs. BROWN hid with her children in a cornfield. Two different squads of the ruffians stopped and set fire to the house. Both times Mrs. BROWN left her hiding and put out the fire, in spite of threats of death if she did so. Then came three raiders dragging a colored man and discussing how they should kill him. Mrs. BROWN seized an old, useless revolver and threatened to shoot the first ruffian who should lay hands on the negro. And she effected his escape.

Mrs. BROWN was a woman of strong character, generous, and courageous as her actions at the time of the raid showed. She stood for the best things in life. She was devoted to home and church and had a warm heart and a helping hand for all her neighbors and friends. She was a true type of the pioneer, brave, resourceful, lavish in giving of her strength and her store.

Her life closed March 4, 1927. On the following Sunday scores of friends from town and country gathered at her beautiful home place, Pleasant View Farm, to pay her the last tribute of respect and love.

Mr. BROWN died November 10, 1918.

Mrs. BROWN lost out of her home by death a beloved daughter, Emma A. BROWN, less than a year before her own death. Her surviving children are: Thomas R. BROWN, Elmer F. BROWN, Willard BROWN, all living at Lawrence.

Taken from "Lawrence Necrology", a scrapbook of obituaries at the Lawrence Public Library; no newspaper name nor date were given. Submitted by Jane WIGGINS, Lawrence, Ks.

Lawrence Daily Journal, December 8, 1906

Social and Personal

Mrs. Mary KEENEY entertained the executive committee of the Woman's Relief Corps very pleasantly yesterday afternoon at her home, 1132 Pennsylvania street. The ladies spent a social afternoon, after which Mrs. KEENEY served an elaborate dinner.

The Lawrence Gazette, Aug. 4, 1887

Wakarusa

Mrs. MEAIRES died at her home on the Wakarusa, last Tuesday, and was buried on Wednesday at the Harmony burying ground south of the creek. Her death was not unexpected, for she had been a terrible sufferer with that dreaded disease, consumption.
