PRESIDENT'S LETTER

This past year has been a very productive time for our society. Many sizeable tasks have been undertaken. The gathering and preserving of the older records from our county is certainly going forward with great gusto.

The largest project, of course, being the complete cemetery census of Douglas County. The many people who contributed to this mammoth task and will continue to contribute until it has been completed will have the unending gratitude of this writer.

The many people, both local and those who are in touch by mail or telephone, contributed many hours of their time and interest although they were not in our society. To all of them, a big "THANKS". But, honorable mention must be made of the special people who helped read the stones in the severe cold last winter. This took much determination on their part and great dedication to the task set before them. Because they worked such long, cold hours, I want to here recognize each one:

Ilah Derrick	Wilma Vaughn	Harold Graves
Maxine Hougland	Don Vaughn	Peter Volding
Grace Embers	Jane Wiggins	Judy Sweets
Ramona Sedlak	Dorothy Wiggins	Ruby Puckett
Iona Spencer	Jo Ann Transmeier	John Banta
Vivian Clough	Pauline Elniff	Shirley Herbert
Martha Parker	Maxine Graves	Amy Corbett

Let's keep going forward.

Sincerely,

Jean Snedeger

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

The one person who is missing from the list above without whom the Cemetery Project would not have progressed to where it is today is our President, Jean Snedeger. Her enthusiasm and dedication to this important task have been extraordinary. The record shows that during the past year she has copied more than 15,000 Douglas county cemetery stones. She deserves our sincere gratitude.

I wish to thank all of those people who continue to contribute their time and material to "The Pioneer." If there are particular articles or records which you would like to see in future issues of "The Pioneer," please let me know. Your suggestions are always welcome.

Sincerely,

Judy Sweets

MURRAY FAMILY

Rolf Camel MURRAY came with his family to Lawrence, KS in 1900 from Seneca, KS. Rolf was born 1861 at Peoria, IL. His father had died during the battle of Mt. Kenesaw in 1864. His widowed mother was left to care for Rolf, his sister Irene and brother, Francelo. Rolf, the youngest, cared for his ailing mother until her death in 1888. Irene had died in 1885 and her husband had disappeared previously, leaving Rolf to raise their three children. Rolf married in 1891 to Fanny Josephine WILLIAMS. She was 14, he 30. Fanny's widowed mother mistakenly thought that Rolf had come to court her rather than Fanny, since she was closer to his age. Fanny and Rolf had ten children: Orville Orvest (1893-1934); Clella Elsie (1895- ); Melvin Millard (1897-1973); Fay Etta (1899- ); Nina Hazel (1901- ); Iram Rueben (1906-1907); Alta Ruby (1903- ); Leslie Elmer (1908-1971); Bernice Irene (1915-1948); and Viva Ariel 1912-1916).

This information was submitted by Nancy Ellen Robinson, granddaughter of Clella MURRAY TAPLEY. Nancy has in her possession an autograph book of her grandmother's containing autographs of Clella's classmates of 1912 at Kanwaka School in Lawrence. If you would like to have her check and see if your ancestors signed it, please send a SASE to Nancy Robinson, 236 W. Gregory Road, Central Point, OR 97502. Teachers signing were: Edith WOLGAMOTT, Mabel ULRICH, Laurenia SHAW and Miss McLAUGHLIN.

THE OLD QUAKER MEETING HOUSE DISAPPEARS

Abstracted from an article by Edward Bumgardner in the Journal World, (Lawrence, Kansas), Saturday, August 23, 1941.

The recent dismantling of the old Quaker church in east Lawrence and the use of part of the material for the construction of a new temple of worship makes the present seem to be an appropriate time to recount briefly the history of the old church and pay tribute to the memory of some of the worthy citizens who were accustomed to assemble under its roof.

Soon after the settlement of Indiana Quakers at Springdale, Kansas in 1857, came the founding of a Quaker settlement about twelve miles east of Lawrence. The first settlers were Jonathan and Phoebe MENDENHALL, Levi and Sarah WOODARD, and George ROGERS. This community was called Springfield. In 1869, Springfield, thereafter known as HESPER, requested a quarterly meeting which was set upon the fifth of the third month of 1870. At one time Hesper had a membership of 1400.

The first Quaker meeting in Lawrence was held in July, 1863, less than a month before Quantrill's raid. In 1865, several Quaker families settled in Lawrence. Washington HADLEY was the first to settle here. He was to become the first president of the National Bank of Lawrence, the president of the gas company, served two terms as mayor of Lawrence, and took an active part in the formation of the yearly meeting after serving as the first clerk of the Hesper Quarterly meeting.

The first preacher for the Lawrence congregation was Mrs. M. Cox, who served from 1867 to 1879 without pay. She was succeeded by William NICHOLSON. The first supported pastor in the state was John VINNEDGE, who ministered to the HOMESTEAD monthly meetings in 1886. The first paid pastor in Lawrence was William WOOTEN, who served from 1897 to 1908.

The Kansas Yearly Meeting of Friends was organized in 1872 and figured in notable migration of Friends to Kansas. The Friends meeting house stood on a knoll in east Lawrence from 1872 to the present summer (1941). Stone and lumber from the old structure were used in the new Friends church at Sixteenth and New Hampshire streets.

The first meeting in the new temple was in October, 1872. The total attendance was estimated at 3000. That was more than the total number reported by the four quarterly meetings. (Springdale had 536 members; Hesper 720; Cottonwood 594; and Spring River 767).

Other Lawrence area Quakers mentioned in this rather lengthy article were: Richard A. COX, Mahlon H. NEWLIN, Albert L. COX, John M. NEWLIN, Edmund STANLEY, John D. MILES, Laban J. MILES, Mrs. A. HENLEY, and Walter Roscoe STUBBS, who later became Governor of the state of Kansas.

"If any young man is about to commence in the world, with little in his circumstances to prepossess him in favor of one section above another, we say to him publicly and privately, "Go to the West; there your capacities are sure to be appreciated and your industry and energy rewarded."

Your AHNENTAFEL, What It Is and How to Prepare It

Ahnentafel is a German word which means ancestor table (i.e. Ahnen= Ancestor; tafel= table). It is a concise way in which to list your ancestors and their vital statistics in an easily readable form.

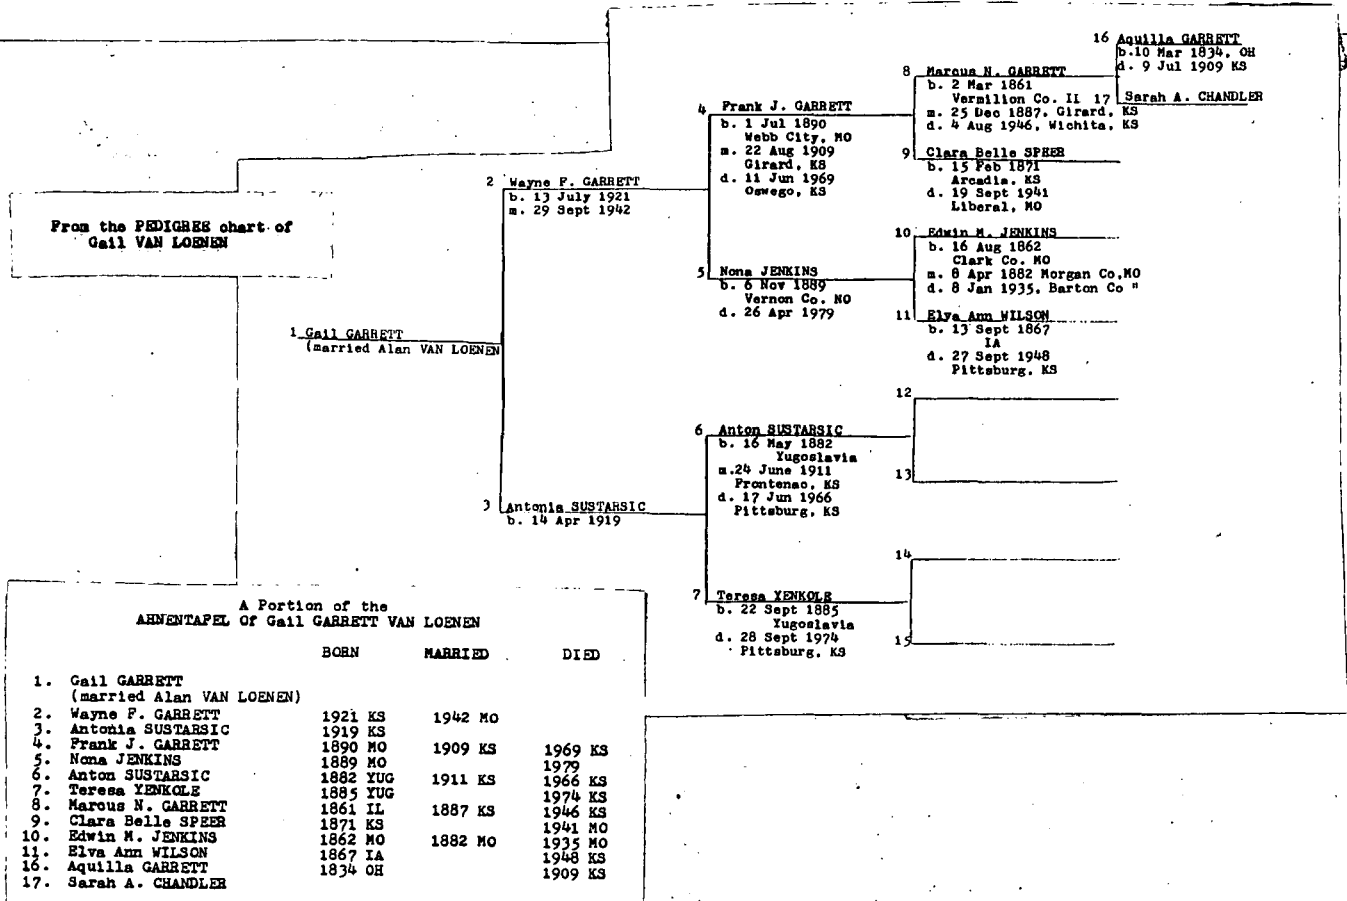

By using the pedigree chart you can easily construct your own Ahnentafel. For example, counting yourself as number one (#1) on your pedigree chart, simply transfer your name and pedigree number and your year and state (or country) of birth to the top of the Ahnentafel chart. The names and dates of your parents, (#2 and #3), are then listed in numerical order under your name on the chart. Then begin listing your paternal grandparents' names and dates in their numerical order, followed by your maternal grandparents. Continue in this manner, listing as many of your ancestors as you have on your pedigree chart. The empty spaces on your pedigree chart are skipped completely on your Ahnentafel chart. Thus, if you know the name of your paternal great-grandfather, but not the name of your paternal great-grandmother, you would list his name (#8), skip her number (#9) and go on to person #10.

Using the following examples of an actual pedigree and ahnentafel, it is easy to see in what manner the Ahnentafel was constructed. Gail lists herself as #1, followed by her father (#2) and her mother (#3). She then lists her paternal grandparents (#4 and #5), her maternal grandparents (#6 and #7) and her paternal great-grandparents (#8, #9, #10 & #11). Since the names of her maternal great-grandparents are at this time unknown, their numbers are not written on the Ahnentafel chart. Instead, the next number and name listed is that of the paternal great-grandfather (#16), whose name is known.

Remember that a father's number is always twice that of his child's, while a mother's number is always one more than her husband's. Looking at our example, notice that the father of Frank Garrett (#4) is Marcus Garrett (2 X #4= #8), while his mother is Clara Belle Speer (#8+1=#9). To find the child of Edwin M. Jenkins (#10), simply divide by two and find that #5 (Nona Jenkins) is his daughter.

Because of their compact quality, Ahnentafels are handy for exchanges with other genealogists and show at a glance which ancestors you have knowledge of and which ones you are still seeking.

On the following page we show the Ahnentafel of one of our members, Gail Garrett Van Loenen. What not try to construct your own Ahnentafel using the steps outlined above?

PIONEER CEMETERY

Rich in History

Much of Its Story is Lost Thru
Failure to Keep Records

One of the most interesting landmarks in Douglas county to those with a historical turn of mind is the old Pioneer cemetery, originally called Oread cemetery. It was the first public burying ground for the use of citizens of Lawrence.

Much of the early history of Lawrence may be reconstructed in the mind of the observer by reading the inscriptions on the moss covered and broken head stones in the cemetery.

The cemetery is located southwest of the University, on the road leading from the campus to Number Six school. It is a six-acre plot, a little north of the center of the east side of the NE quarter of section 2, township 13, range 19.

According to information compiled by Elmer E. BROWN, the land where the cemetery is located was preempted by Aaron PERRY. It was established soon after the settlement of Lawrence and burial was by permission and without system or plot.

Burials may have been made prior to 1855 but the first burial by marked monument was that of Cornelius CAMPBELL. The inscription on the stone says that he died on April 22, 1855 at the age of 56 years.

The second oldest burial, according to marked stones, was that of Carl G. RAU.

The third burial was that of Thomas W. BARBER, who died on December 6, 1855.

QUANTRILL's raid on August 21, 1863 added many new graves to the cemetery. Most of the victims were interred there but upon opening Oak Hill cemetery in 1865 many bodies of QUANTRILL's victims were moved to the new burial ground. A suitable monument was erected to the victims. According to stones remaining in the old burial grounds a large number of the victims of the raid still rest where they were first buried. The reinterment of the QUANTRILL victims was carried out in 1872. Elmer E. BROWN says the G.A.R., thru the efforts of C.W. SMITH, applied to the government for markers for the graves of the Wisconsin soldiers and these were finally received and set up by Charlie APITZ under the direction of SMITH. Some 20 of these markers are still in the Pioneer plot.

BROWN says that thru the efforts of Mr. SMITH funds were raised to build a monument to the unknown dead of the Civil war. O. WHIPPLE, a plasterer and stone mason and a member of the G.A.R., built a monument of brick and plastered it. Metal letters forming an inscription were placed on it but have long since fallen away.

BROWN says the cemetery was once surrounded by a well-laid dry rock wall fence. Boys after rabbits tore down the wall and the stone was gradually hauled away.

A black locust thicket grew over most of the ground and when the surrounding property came into the possession of N.A. GWIN, he made the proposition that if materials were furnished he would fence the ground and turn his herd of goats in to clean off the brush. The fence was built and the brush cleared away.

Early in the history of the cemetery, N.P. DEMING found that the deed to property held by him to the north of the cemetery covered all or a part of the cemetery, and BROWN says C.W. SMITH raised $135 to purchase the land from DEMING. The deed was made on April 1, 1867.

The following, written by W.C. SIMONS, is taken from the Lawrence Journal World of May 11, 1915:

"BEAUTIFUL OLD FORGOTTEN CEMETERY"

Tragic story of the early days of Lawrence written in stone where early martyrs rest. Records have been lost and many of the dead have been forgotten. The cemetery came into disuse more than forty years ago, when Oak Hill was opened.

Within five minutes walk from Mount Oread, with its teeming life, is a quiet and beautiful city of the dead in which sleep those who passed away during the early days of Lawrence.

Originally a stony knoll, overlooking the Wakarusa, it has now become a spot of great beauty shaded by trees planted by loving hands many years ago. Here sleep early settlers, men who fell in the border warfare as martyrs to freedom and beside them sleep little babes, who, if they had lived, would now be old men and women, for this quiet and forgotten cemetery was used sixty years ago.

Here, too, rest a large number of soldiers from Wisconsin regiments, probably little more than boys when they marched away from their homes in the sixties, and for half a century they have been resting with their faces turned toward the azure blue of a Kansas sky.

The story of epidemics which swept away the little ones is told by a large number of little slabs bearing almost the same date. Perhaps it was scarlet fever, or diphtheria, before the modern anti-toxins of today were known, but whatever it was it robbed the poor homes of the early settlers of Lawrence of their dearest treasures.

Character there is also in the monuments still standing or lying broken on the ground. We find the ephemeral American policy of show in a stucco monument to the unknown dead and the solid, enduring work of the Germans in solid granite set about with iron posts and chains which show little wear for their half century of exposure.

It was a long way to the old settler, perhaps two miles from Massachusetts street and it was then up almost inaccessible hills, but those who were living followed the bodies of their dead and planted trees which have now grown to large proportions. Even these old trees show the marks of storms which have blown across the hill and have left broken branches and twisted trunks.

As nearly as can be learned, this old cemetery, which has been known as Oread, was opened in 1854 or 55, within a year after the town of Lawrence was founded.

At the corner nearest the city are some evergreens which were planted by the late N.P. DEMING to mark the graves of his parents. Old Mr. DEMING loved trees and together with Chancellor MARVIN years ago planted the walnuts which have grown into the beautiful grove just north of the university buildings.

The very large proportion of soldiers from the Third Wisconsin cavalry buried in the old cemetery is said to be due to the prevalence of an epidemic--William CRUTCHFIELD says Cholera--that was prevailing here while this regiment was in camp enroute to some more southerly point. Others admit the prevalence of disease but do not think it was cholera. Mr. EDWARDS and Mr. HUDDLESTON remember the unusual mortality among the Wisconsin men while the Third was temporarily here, but as stated, they do not agree with Mr. CRUTCHFIELD as to the cause. All the burials of the men from the Wisconsin regiment seem to have been made in the old cemetery, and more of them, in fact, than the old headstones disclose, because some of the bodies, none knows how many, have been taken up and sent East, and still others are in Oak Hill. The Wisconsin regiment did not have any fight while here, all are positive, and they are certain its mortality was caused by disease.

Not a line of the original records about the old cemetery are in existence, so far as the Oak Hill cemetery officials and the old settlers know.

The Rev. L.R. NICHOLS, who died in Lawrence in 1858 and was buried in the old cemetery and whose body is yet there, is described by William CRUTCHFIELD as "A young preacher, probably 21 years old, who did not have any pastorate, but 'preached around' here and there." He had not been ordained, Mr. CRUTCHFIELD thinks, but was a divinity student out getting experience. He died of a fever.

Charles L. EDWARDS remembers distinctly the first death in Lawrence, and remembers seeing the funeral procession wind about the foot and slopes of Mount Oread on its way westward. Mr. Edwards was not at the burial, but was very certain the interment was made in the old cemetery and that it was the first interment therein. The dead man was named POMEROY (from ANDRES history the name is Moses POMEROY) and he was a near relative of S.C. POMEROY, afterwards United States senator from Kansas.

David C. BUFFMAN, who is buried in the old cemetery, and who died September 17, 1856, was shot by men, probably "border Ruffians," who robbed him of his horses while he was working in the field. He resisted, or at least protested, and was murdered in cold blood. He did not die at the time, but lingered, and was able to tell how he came to meet his death. This incident Mr. EDWARDS remembers distinctly.

Thomas W. BARBER, an uncle of O.P. BARBER, of Lawrence, died at a point on the highway four miles west of Lawrence, December 6, 1855, under the following circumstances;

He and his brother Robert and Thomas PIERSON, brother-in-law of the BARBERS, were returning to their homes eight miles southwest of Lawrence, following the old California road. They had reached a point where their route swerved from the California road toward the southwest when they saw at a distance to the northwest a party of men supposed by them to number a hundred or so. As they looked two of the three men rode away from the main body and "cutting across" intercepted them. The Lawrence men anticipated no trouble and did not run. As they came up to the two men one of the latter engaged them in conversation, and asked them where they were from. Thomas BARBER answered, "Lawrence." One of the two, a quite young man, then began to curse and said, "Why don't you fellows obey the law?" and pulling a pistol fired directly at Thomas BARBER's chest, and followed it up with a shot aimed at Robert BARBER's groin. This second shot passed through the saddle seat and into the horse Robert BARBER was riding. All five then put spurs to their horses, riding directly away from each other-- one party eastward, the other westward. Robert BARBER, the only one of the Lawrence men armed, shot at the two retreating men several times, and it is thought he slightly wounded one of them. About a hundred yards west of where the shooting took place Thomas BARBER sank from his horse, saying he was shot. The others dismounted and Thomas died a few moments later. The slayer of BARBER was never identified.

Thomas BARBER was born in 1814, and came to Kansas from New Paris, Ohio.

Following is given the names and some of the data to be found on the stones:

Carolita M., daughter of W. M. and M. L. BURHANS, July 25, 1868, aged 19 months

At Rest, Jacob S., son of Absalom and Anna T. HOLCOMB, June 7, 1871, age 16 years.

(This slab which stands erect has been used as a mark by hunters.)

L. F. AHRBERG, June 12, 1865.

L. M. HOLTZLANDER, Oct. 13, 1864. (This monument is leaning against a tree and the grave it formerly marked may have been opened.)

A large stucco monument is marked with a copper slab upon which appeared originally in white letters the following inscription:

"To the unknown dead Union Soldiers of the Civil war."

A broken slab, with a hand pointing upwards, was marked:

Frances M., wife of J.C. CUNNINGHAM, Aug. 12, 1864.

"I know that my Redeemer liveth."

Nearby are a large number of stones evidently furnished by the Federal government to mark the graves of soldiers. Simply the name and company is given and if one wishes further information there are somewhere the original rosters of the companies:

These two stones, which bear the mark of Ech'lb'ry and Cribb LEAVENWORTH, evidently tell the sad story of two brothers called but two weeks apart.

Margaret J. SWEEZER, Aug. 26, 1855, 2 years.

Beside some large evergreens is a stone marked: - Martha GRAHAM, Mar. 11, 1858, Age 53. Louisa O. GRAHAM, Feb. 7, 1858, Age 17. "The Lord is my Shepherd I'll not want." Wife and Daughter of Jno. M. GRAHAM.

James HALL, May 5, 1867. Age 54. At this grave is a locust tree nearly two feet in diameter and about it are a number of graves marked with ordinary stones.

In the south-western part of the cemetery are a lot of graves, no telling just how many, simply marked with the plain limestone picked up in the cemetery and placed to mark the grave temporarily until a better mark could be secured. Those who placed their loved ones there have forgotten them and today there is probably no one who cares.

Delia DILLARD, Died 1863. Age 73.

A masonic insignia also marked the stone of John BERRY, Jan. 30, 1869. Age 25 years.

"Meet me in Heaven" are the words above a carved hand holding a bouquet and below appears Samuel JONES, Feb. 5, 1868. Age 26.

In Memory of Francis KILLAM, May 25, 1857. Age 53. "Blessed are Dead who die in the Lord."

Mary Ann, Daughter of L.C. & E. PEET, April 10, 1857. Age 1 year.

The best preserved grave and markings in the cemetery is the one which reads as follows:- Gatte. Carl G. RAU. Geb. 22 Mai 1827, Gest. 4 Nov. 1855. Gewidmet von der Wittwe Elise geb. MAIER, mit ihrem kind. The stone is of solid granite and shows no wear while the four heavy iron posts connected with chains will stand for a hundred years to come. The best translation the writer could make is "Husband. Carl G. RAU born May 22, 1827, died Nov. 4, 1855. Erected by the widow, Elise born MAIER, with their child."

In memory of Cornelius CAMPBELL Apr. 22, 1855. Age 56. This stone is half buried.

Thomas W. BARBER, born Feb. 22, 1814, died Dec. 6, 1855. This monument came from Richmond, Indiana, and is the largest private monument in the cemetery.

Hiram BU, Oct. 9, 1857. Age 28.

Mary E. GODWIN, Mar. 4, 1862. Age 25.

Albro, son of G.W. and M.E. GODWIN. Aug. 2, 1864. Age 9 yrs.

Aug. P. NIXON only son of Ira and Phebe NIXON, Sept. 2, 1857. Age 26.

Geo. B. SUTLIFF, June 23, 1859. Age 18. "Far from Home."

Walter B.S. son of G. and L. GRISWOLD, born Oct. 18, 1854, Died on the Memorial morning Aug. 21, 1863.

The upper part of a broken slab reads: Leaner D. wife of S.W. SPEAS. Sept. 29, 1864. While on the lower half is written:-

"Oh cruel death. O greedy grave
To steal and hide away
The idol of a lover's heart
As your own lawful prey."

Freeman, son of Carlos and Lucy A. HALL, Aug. 12, 1864, aged 6 years 10 mos. This slab leans against that of the boy's father, Carlos HALL, Nov. 16, 1862, aged 38 years.

Dora, daughter of O.D. and S.A. PICKENS, Jan. 26, 1867, aged 14 mos. and 10 days. Nearby is another, Laretta, daughter of O.D. and S.A. PICKENS, Sept. 21, 1864, age 2 months.

Louis A. SWAN killed in raid Aug. 21, 1863. Age 31 years. This stone bears the insignia of the Masonic order.

Dora, daughter of L.G. and F. BUSSE, Feb. 6, 1869. "Darling rest in Peace."

Walter C. HUTCHINSON, Oct. 11, 1861. Age 40 years.

Annie E., daughter of G.C. and M.A. HUTCHINSON, age 11 months. This slab is down and broken as are many of the others.

On a rude sandstone is carved L. MINER, aged 60 years and below it, L. MINER age 10 months.

Nearby is a little grave marked with an ordinary piece of limestone at the head and feet.

Chester HAY, Aug. 21, 1863. Aged 28. Killed in the Lawrence Massacre.

On the HAY monument is the imprint of the makers, CHAMP & PORTER and many of the other monuments also bear a similar advertisement.

N.H. BLANTON, Apr. 18, 1858. Age 16. This slab is so over grown as to be hard to read.

Francis M. BLANTON, May 1st, 1858. Age 20 years.

Angelina, wife of Simon RITTER, Mar. 13, 1858. Age 21, appears on a broken and half buried slab.

The tombstone of David C. BUFFUM, one of the free state martyrs, leans against a tree. The inscription is "David C. BUFFUM, born at Salem, Mass., died near Lawrence, Sept. 17, 1856. His death although a great loss to his friends and the country has been a great gain for the cause of freedom. He was devoted to the cause for which he suffered his last words being 'I am willing to die for the cause of Freedom in Kansas.'"

Eddie, son of C. and A. DUNCAN, Mar. 12, 1859. Age 6 mos.

Chas. T., son of C. and A. DUNCAN, Oct. 2, 1857. Age 13 mos.

Eddie, son of W.H. and E. DUNCAN, Dec. 20, 1857.

Alfonso, son of W.H. and E. DUNCAN, July 14, 1857, age 2 years.

John Byron McLOUTH, Sept. 23, 1857. Age 1 year.

James O. BALDWIN, Apr. 30, 1863. Age 28. He was loved in life and in death lamented.

"Remember friends as you pass by,
as you are so was I.
As I am so you must be, prepare for death and follow me."

That monument makers could make some queer freaks in the way of stone cutting is shown by the following verse which is given line for line as it appears on the stone:

Clara M., daughter of Jas. O. and S.J. BALDWIN, Oct. 14, 1862.

"Our sweet little child has gone, der sky
To mansions above you--
To gaze on the beautiful throne on high
Of him who is seated"

Cary H., son of J.O. and S.J. BALDWIN, Aug. 29, 1861. Age 1 mo.

"But Jesus said suffer little children and forbid them not to come unto me for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Mandae, wife of J.W. MATTHEWS, died Nov. 3, 1861, age 19 years.

"She was lovely she was fair
And for awhile was given
An angel came and claimed his own
And bore her home to heaven."

Mr. MATTHEWS apparently loved his young wife dearly and in two months he joined her for the next slab reads:

J.W. MATTHEWS, Jan. 7, 1862, age 29.

"Cease dear friends (rest of line cannot be read)

Above the spot where I am sleeping
When Christ appears I shall arise
And I hope to meet you in the skies."

Lucy Jane COAT, daughter of G.W. and E.M. COAT, Jan. 23, 1862. Age 1 year. Eighteen months later her father followed her.

Geo. W. COAT. Killed in the Massacre in Lawrence, Aug. 21, 1863.
Age 28 years. A verse follows, but is buried and cannot be read.

Benjamin S. DRAPER, Oct. 18, 1862. Age 13.

T.J. BROKAW, Mar. 14, 1872. Age 39.

E. BROKAW, Mar. 11, 1872. Age 37.

Rev. Wm. A. KENNEY, of the Kansas Conference of the M.E. Church,
Apr. 23, 1863. Age 28. "This Jesus whom I preach unto you, is Christ."

Rev. L.H. NICHOLS, Aug. 28, 1858. Age 22 years and 10 months.

The first wife of L.S. STEELE was the widow of John R. BLAKELY and his monument bears several inscriptions.

John R. BLAKELY, Killed at Coal Harbor, June 1, 1864.

Infant son and daughter of L.S. and L.A. STEELE

Abraham BLAKELY, Dec. 19, 1864. Age 53.

Chas. A. BLAKELY, May 31, 1864. Age 28

J.R. BLAKELY's grave is also marked by a government stone with his name and "Co. F.9 N.Y. H.A."

An iron railing nearby surrounds a child's grave but there are no marks to indicate the name.

Henry B. SHAW, Sept. 22, 1858. Age 23.

John T., son of David and Mary EVANS, Apr. 12, 1864. Age 15 mos.

A stone upon which the name STEARNS and the date 64 could be made out was so deeply buried that the rest of the inscription could not be read.

There is evidence of an old trail leading through the cemetery and Mrs. Paul R. BROOKS says that this road was open and used after the cemetery was abandoned, but was finally ordered closed. The grounds were not fenced until taken over by Mr. GWIN to be pastured by his goats.

A concensus of the opinions of E. HUDDLESTON, William CRUTCHFIELD and Charles L. EDWARDS indicates pretty conclusively that the old cemetery which was deserted in 1865 was abandoned for the most part because it was comparatively inaccessible--much more so at least than the Oak Hill Cemetery.
Much of the distance was up a stiff grade, and the new site proved so much more popular that after the new cemetery was opened internments out there practically ceased. The soil in the old cemetery is said to be for the most part not so fertile as in Oak Hill, and that fact had considerable influence in the abandonment.

--LATER INFORMATION GATHERED IN 1939--

Alfred PEAKE. Died Feb. 27, 1882. Aged 63 yrs.

Sarah PEAKE. Died Sep. 23, 1882. Aged 58 yrs.

Died in Lawrence, Kansas, October 27, 1861. Aged 77 years.

Prudence NICHOLS, his wife, who died in the parish of Minver, May 12, 1849. Aged 66 years. (This monument was placed over the grave of John OLIVER by his granddaughter, Miss Hannah OLIVER, 802 Tennessee St., in 1928.)

Among other inscriptions found on stones in the cemetery are the following that appear to be of interest:

Ray L. MITCHELL, died Aug. 28, 1858, aged 26 years.

Mary Jane, wife of Charles STEARNS, died December 27, 1864. Aged 46 yrs.

Charles Thomas, son of C.M. and J. STEARNS, died July 24, 1858, Aged 1 year.

Samuel, son of Evan and Elizabeth JONES, died August 21, 1863, aged 46 years.

Priscilla, daughter of Evan and Elizabeth JONES, died Sept. 18, 1863, aged 25 years.

(Both of the above inscriptions are on one stone.)

Lydia, wife of L.M. HOLLANDER, born August 1, 1856, died October 31, 1864.

L.B. READ reports the notices of two deaths in the READ family:

Died, on Monday morning, April 30, Addie E., only child of F.W. and Amelia A. READ, aged one year, eleven months and twenty-two days.

Died at the residence of Levi GATES in West Lawrence, August 30, 1862, Freddy Rockwell READ, only child of F.W. and Amelia A. READ, aged eleven months.

(The burials were in Pioneer cemetery. No record of the location of the graves exists.)

Charles STARKWEATHER reports that the STARKWEATHER family was living over the ALLEN hardware store at the N.E. corner of Massachusetts and Seventh streets at the time of Quantrill's raid. Burials of the following members of the STARKWEATHER family were made in Pioneer cemetery.

Mary E. MOORE, grandmother of Charles STARKWEATHER, was born in North Carolina, came to Kansas in April, 1863, died fall of 1872, aged about 80 years.

John Noble STARKWEATHER, born in Vermont in 1828, came to Kansas in March, 1863, died in November, 1870. (Father of Charles STARKWEATHER)

Oscar STARKWEATHER, born in Lawrence and died in 1868, age one year.

Not a line of the original records about the old cemetery are in existence, so far as the Oak Hill cemetery officials and the old settlers knew.

The date shown on the monument for Sarah PEAKE, Sept. 23, 1882, was the latest date to be found in the cemetery when Hastie compiled his Record of Cemeteries of Douglas County, Kansas, in 1939. This probably marks one of the last burials to be made in the nineteenth century in this cemetery. Burials were made again beginning in the 1960's. Following is a list of the twentieth century interments.

THE DUG-OUT.—The primitive residence of many of the first families of Kansas.

Douglas County Townships

Abstracted from, History of the State of Kansas, A.T. Andreas, Chicago, 1883

In the early settlement of Douglas County, Kansas, the municipal townships of the county were named, Lecompton, Lawrence, Franklin, Washington and Louisiana. On Jan 27, 1856, the townships were reconstructed and were established with Lecompton in the northwest, the city of Lecompton as a voting place, Calhoun in the northeast with Lawrence as a voting place, Washington in the southeast with Palmyra as a voting place and Wakarusa in the southwest with Bloomington as a voting place.

On a map published on the 4th of July, 1857, it appears that the incorporated villages in the townships were as follows: In Lecompton township were Lecompton, Douglas, Benicia and Marshall; Washington township had the villages of Bloomington, Willow Springs and Washington; Wakarusa township took in Lawrence, Franklin and Sebastian; Calhoun township had Pacific City, Louisiana, Palmyra and Prairie City. Most of these villages are no longer in existence.

In August of 1858, the townships were: Lecompton, Lawrence, Eudora, Palmyra (changed from Calhoun), Willow Springs, Marion and Clinton. In 1859, Kanwaka township was formed, and in 1867 Grant township was formed out of Sarcoxie township (in Jefferson County).

In this issue we give a brief history of each of the nine present-day (1983) townships and list the names of those settlers whose biographies are in the book, History of the State of Kansas, by A.T. Andreas which was published in 1883.

In subsequent issues other information concerning these townships will be published: For example, tax lists, church and school records, copies of deeds etc.

CLINTON, a town in Clinton township, is situated between Rock Creek and the Wakarusa, about nine miles southwest of Lawrence. The first settlement was made here in June, 1854 by John A. Beam, N. Alguire and M. Albin. Later a Mr. Spradling, Lyman Sawyers, L.H. Boughton and G.W. Umberger moved into this vicinity.

At BLOOMINGTON, about a mile east of Clinton, a post office was established in July 1855 with Harrison Burson as Postmaster. This post office was discontinued and one established at Clinton, August 30, 1858 with J.A. Beam as Postmaster.

In 1858, Clinton was a prominent contestant for the county seat. The 1860 population of Clinton township was 655. By 1880, the population had risen to 1,005.

Those Clinton township residents for whom biographical sketches appear in A History of the State of Kansas, by A.T. Andreas in 1883 are listed below:

Information about Clinton township schools can be found in the book, Rural Schools and Schoolhouses of Douglas County, Kansas by Goldie Piper Daniels.

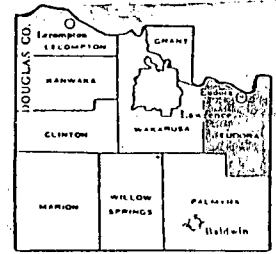

EUDORA, a town in the township of Eudora, is situated seven miles east of Lawrence. In 1856 an association composed of prominent Germans was organized at Chicago, Illinois under the name Neuer Ansiedlungs Verein, with the object of making a settlement at some point in the West. In 1857, a location committee, consisting of H. Heimann, F. Barteldes and C. Schleifer were appointed to go West and find a location. Thus a tract of 800 acres was secured from the Shawnee Indians through Pascal Fish, their chief. The town sight was named in honor of the chief's daughter. Some of the early settlers were P. Hartig, J. Fischer, J. Schiesgroohl, J. Leoterle, A. Herling, J. Schoartz, G. Buttner, A. Schirner, M. Marthey, Fred Deirhmann, A. Veroh, C. Epple and wife, G. Kerg, C. Maxilius, Anton Goethes and H. Gaserman.

The first house on the town sight was built by Pascal Fish long before the advent of the white man as a settler and was used as a hotel. The first birth in Eudora was that of Eudora, a daughter of C. Epple, born in 1857. One of the first deaths was that of J. Loeterle. One of the first marriages was that of F. Dischmann and Mrs. George Harbolt in 1857 or 1858.

The legislature of 1867 provided for the formation of GRANT township out of Sarcoxie township (which was in Jefferson County) and making the same a part of Douglas County. According to the Early History of North Lawrence written by the Woodlawn Parents Teachers Association in 1961, 320 acres including the greater part of the site of North Lawrence (now in Grant township) had been granted to Sarcoxie, Chief of the Turtle Band of Delaware Indians in a treaty with the United States and the Delawares in 1860. All of this land was transferred to Charles Robinson, Robert S. Stevens, and William A. Simpson by Sarcoxie and War-me-mar-o-qua, his wife, on 2 November 1861. The first Post Office was established in 1862 under the name of "Jefferson" with Charles F. Saum as Postmaster.

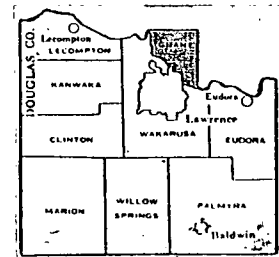

Some of the first settlers in Grant township were: David Miller, John Morehead, Dr. G.J. Tallman, C.F. Saum, Thomas McCage, O. H. Mitchell, M. H. Berry, Isaac Tibbets, W.H.H. Whitney, T.S. Murray, Peter Laptad and others.

Bismarck Grove, located in North Lawrence, was the site of many fairs, concerts and other political and religious events. A part of the Grove was used as a game preserve.

The population of Grant township in 1870 was 583. By 1880 the number of persons residing in Grant township was 576.

For information about the early schools of Grant township (and the other Douglas County townships) see, Rural Schools and Schoolhouses of Douglas County, Kansas by Goldie Piper Daniels.

Much of the following information about KANWAKA was taken from the book, Soil of Our Souls, by Martha Parker and Betty Laird, Parker-Laird Enterprises, 1980 and from a seminar paper by Steven Jansen entitled, "Kanwaka Township of Eastern Kansas 1860-1885, A Study of Rural Society" (1976).

The eastern boundary of the township of Kanwaka lies about six miles west of downtown Lawrence. Through Kanwaka passed thousands of people who were following the Oregon-California Trail to the gold fields of California.

The first permanent settler in Kanwaka was John Allen Wakefield in July of 1854. Other early settlers were: John Lyon, Samuel Walker, David and George Buffum, Knott Crockett, Eratus and Judson Heath, Henry Lacy, Henry Baldwin (who was the first Postmaster in 1857) and William Ricker.

Samuel Walker, who later became a local political leader was an early settler who gave his impressions of life in Kanwaka.

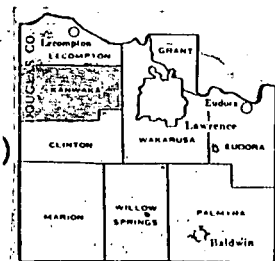

"Not a sign of civilization was to be seen but in a week's time I counted twenty dugouts, tents and cabins. In thus beginning life over again, my worldly wealth consisted of a wife and five children (two of the later sick), one yoke of oxen, one sack of flour, 100 pounds of bacon, eight dollars in money, and the tent which sheltered us." <sup>1</sup>

The name "Kanwaka", was derived from the nearby Kansas and Wakarusa rivers. An early school was named Kanwaka, followed by the community of Kanwaka and in 1859 the township Kanwaka was formed. The population of Kanwaka township in 1860 was 667.

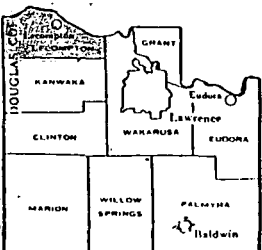

The town of STULL was originally called Deer Creek and had been settled by Pennsylvania Dutch. Some of the early settlers of Stull were: Jacob Hildenbrand, Isaac Stull, the families of Gress, Fricker, Heil, Houk, Roller, Bahmaier, Neffer, Zeeb, and Eberhart.

Those residents of Kanwaka township whose biographical sketches appear in Andreas', History of the State of Kansas, 1883 follow below:

BARBER, William T. (Mary M. HOUSTON)
 CUMMINGS, William J. (Emma BOYD)
 FITZPATRICK, James
 FITZPATRICK, Michael T. (mentioned in brother James' sketch)
 FITZPATRICK, Thomas H.
 SCOUTEN, D.W. (a bachelor)

LECOMPTON, in Lecompton township, was formerly the headquarters of the Pro-slavery party in the territory. It is located on the Kansas River, in the northwestern part of Douglas County, fifteen miles east of Topeka.

The first settlements made in the vicinity of Lecompton were in 1854, by A.W. and A.G. Gleen, father and son, G.W. Zinn, David Martin, M.S. Winter and William Shirley. In 1855, Moses McCall, Maj. Lyman Evans and others came to this part of the country and in 1856 came William Leamer, William M. Nace, William Smith, William Christian and Hugh S. Walsh. Lecompton Town company was organized at the Pottawatomie Agency with Samuel D. Lecompte as President. It was the plan of the founders to make Lecompton, not only the capital of the territory, but to make it a large city as well.

The first birth in Lecompton was that of Lecompton Marks; the first marriage was that of Thomas Watson to Miss Barbara Coulter in the spring of 1855. The first death was that of John Martin.

Lecompton, at the height of its prosperity in 1857-8 was a flourishing town. It was the seat of government for the Territory, had a number of large hotels, four church organizations, the U.S. court and the land office. It was headquarters for stage lines to Kansas City, Leavenworth and St. Joseph, Mo as well.

BIG SPRINGS is located in the northwestern part of Douglas county in Lecompton Township. The town was named because of the large springs in the immediate vicinity. The first settlers were Ephraim Banning, the two Custerds, Roberts, Wells, Eppuson; Lawson and Cardwell. The first child born here was probably Sarah S. Cardwell, 5 Aug 1854. The first marriage was that of Mr. Corbert to Sarah Ann Harper in 1856 and the first death was that of Mrs. Custerd.

THIRD TERRITORIAL CAPITOL, LECOMPTON. In which the Second Territorial Legislature met; January 12, 1857.

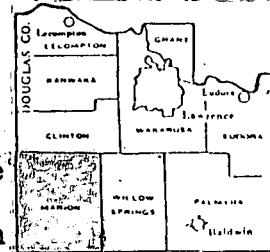

One of the first temperance meetings in the Territory was held at Big Springs in 1856. On 5 Sept 1855, the Big Springs convention was held. This was the first Free-State convention held in the Territory and it was at this place that the Free-State party was organized.

Those Lecompton township residents whose biographical sketches appear in A History of the State of Kansas, by A.T. Andreas in 1883 are listed below:

MARION, one of the towns in Marion township, was named in honor of Gen. Francis Marion of Revolutionary fame. Marion is sixteen miles southwest from Lawrence. In 1857-8, the Marion town company, composed of eleven persons laid off a town site. Prior to 1860, a post office was established with D. Hubbard and J. Howard being among the list of first Postmasters. In 1881, the name of the post office was changed to it's present appellation, Globe.

LAPEER, is situated in the southwest part of the county, near the headwaters of Rock Creek. The first settlements were made in the vicinity in 1855 by George Shobert, Peter Dodder, James Baker and Samuel Hays. The town was so named after a town of the same name in Michigan.

The first child born here was Eli Baker on 2 November 1856. The first marriage was that of B.L. Oldham to Elvira Baker in the year 1857 and the first death was that of an unknown man in 1859. The post office was established in 1856 and named Marion, with S. Briniman being appointed first Postmaster.

Some of the towns and villages of PALMYRA township are:

BALDWIN CITY is located fifteen miles south of Lawrence on the line of the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston Railway. The first settlement made in and near what is now known as Baldwin occurred in 1854 when Robert and Richard Pierson, L.F. Green, Jacob Cantrell and a few others took up claims there. They were followed by L.N. Snyder, H. Baricklaw, D. Still, J.A. Abbott, D.F. Green, D. Froy, W. Baricklaw and others in 1855-6.

PALMYRA, a town site of 320 acres on Sections 34 and 27, Township 14, Range 20 was laid off by the Palmyra Town Company in June of 1855. The marriage of Robert Pierson to a Miss Bithinger in 1855-6 was among the first ceremonies of the kind performed in Palmyra.

As work on a university was progressing on land adjoining the town on the south, more and more enterprises moved from Palmyra to the new town which had been named Baldwin in honor of John Baldwin of Berea, Ohio. Now the town of Palmyra is but a dream of the Past.

BLACKJACK, in the southeastern part of the county, five miles from Prairie City was first settled by William Riley, Daniel Fearer, E.D. Pettenfill, S.A. Stonebraker, and H.N. Brockway. The first birth in the town was that of William H. Riley in June 1858 who died while an infant and being the town's first death. The first marriage was that of Joseph Kennedy to Mrs. Elizabeth Hanern. Black Jack is situated on the old Santa Fe road and was named by the Mexicans for the nearby creek which is called Black Jack. The historic battle-field of Black Jack is situated near the town of Black JACK.

VINLAND is about nine miles southeast of Lawrence. Among the early settlers here in 1854 were W.E. Barnes, George Cutter, F.B. Varnum, Charles W. Dow, Jacob Branson, William White and others.

MEDIA, is situated in the southern part of the county on the Kansas City, Lawrence and Southern Kansas Railroad. The first settlement was made here in November, 1878 by E.G. Gilbert and H.W. Willett and family.

LOUISIANA, was about two miles northwest of Baldwin City and was the scene of the murder of Coleman the head corporator and prospective mayor of the city of Louisiana, one of the numerous paper cities which never existed except in the minds of their projector and the charter granted.

In 1860, Palmyra township had a population of 1,516 and by 1880 the population had risen to 2,478.

Some books to read about Palmyra township:

- A History of the Vinland United Methodist Church of Vinland, Kansas, by Vinland United Methodist Church, and Santa Fe Trail Historical Society, 1974
- Vinland Area History and Methodist Episcopal Church of Vinland, Kansas, by Anne E. Hemphill, publ. by Vinland United Methodist Church in cooperation with the Santa Fe Trail Historical Society, 1982
- Stony Point Church and Cemetery and Historic Hickory Point, Ruth Endacott Brown, publ. by Stony Point Evangelical Lutheran Church and Cemetery Association, 1968 (Much information about the Eberhart family, the Wakarusa War, Dow's murder etc).

The little hamlet of WAKARUSA, now but a suburb of the city of Lawrence, was one of the first points settled in the state. One of the colonies sent out by the New England Emigrant Aid Society settled here. The name was conferred by the settlers, and was afterward given to the township including the city of Lawrence, when these divisions of the county were organized.

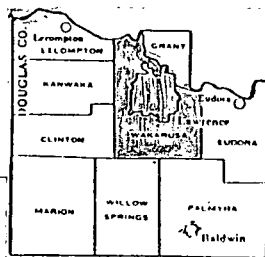

DOUGLAS was situated on the Kansas river ten miles above Lawrence. The first settlement was made here in 1854, by Paris Ellison, who had several slaves. It never attained to much size. When it was at the height of its prosperity, it contained only about five inhabitants all of whom lived in one house. It was incorporated by the bogus Legislature in 1855.

The city of LAWRENCE now claims all of the commercial importance of the township, but there are several small villages besides Wakarusa having a more or less distinct individuality. These are: SIBLEY and FRANKLIN in the eastern part, and GROVER, WASHINGTON CREEK and LAKE VIEW in the western part.

Note: The book, Mankind Yields, by Josephine Shirar McGonigle, 1977, gives a very detailed account of the history of the town of FRANKLIN. Two books about LAWRENCE, A History of Lawrence, Kansas, by Richard Cordley, 1895 (reprint available from our society) and Lawrence, Douglas County, Kansas by David Dary, Allen Books, Lawrence, Kansas 1982 are both good sources of information about Lawrence history.

The northern boundary of Willow Springs township is about four miles south of the city of Lawrence. The first post office in what is now Willow Springs township was called Davis and was established in 1855. On Aug 18, 1856 the township of Willow Springs was formed. The Davis post office name was changed to Willow Springs in 1861, to Akron in 1870 and back to Willow Springs in 1900. The population of Willow Springs township in 1860 was 931 and by 1880 the population had increased to 1,374.

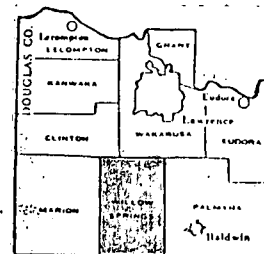

WILLOW SPRINGS had been a favorite resting spot along the Santa Fe Trail. It was so named because there was a large spring surrounded by a grove of Willow trees.

One of the earliest schools in the Willow Springs township according to the book, Rural Schools and Schoolhouses in Douglas County by Goldie Piper Daniels, was High Prairie. The first school in Union District was a log cabin on what is now the Lester Schwartz farm. This log cabin was in use as a school until 1862.

PLEASANT GROVE and WORDEN are two small towns appearing on present-day maps of Willow Springs township. The Joseph Eberhart family were early settlers of Pleasant Grove, arriving in 1854 from Pennsylvania. More information about this family is in the book Stony Point Church and Cemetery and Historic Hickory Point published by The Stony Point Evangelical Lutheran Church and Cemetery Association in 1968.
