From Galena Gazette (Galena, Ill.), Apr. 26, 1912:

"Cousins are not as simple as they seem. The very fact of being a cousin or having a cousin is complicated.....They can borrow money from you, visit you without being asked, tell people they belong to your family, contest your will, even fall in love with you. And a cousin once removed is twice as apt to. Never completely trust a cousin. The "Cousinly kiss" may or may not mean what it means and cousins always do kiss. It's part of being cousins."

From Newspaper clippings found at Spencer Research Library, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas:

Call # RH, H86, Vol. 8

Mention was made of how the family name of Estelle ISE of Lawrence, Kansas came to be in its present form. Apparently the original family name was ISENMENGER. It was shortened when a civil war recruiting officer told Estelle's grandfather that the name was too long. (Estelle ISE was the wife of Admiral Felix GYGAX of Twin Creek.)

Letter from Kansas

Published in The Kansas Herald of Freedom - An Independent Weekly Newspaper, Devoted to Freedom, and the Interests of the Kansas Territory, by G.W. Brown & Co., Wakarusa, Kansas Territory. Number 1, Volume 1, Saturday, October 21, 1854.

Since the publication of my former letters in the Era, I have received hundreds of letters from all parts of the country, enquiring about Kansas. Although wishing to impart all the information in my power, yet were I to devote all my time to letter writing, one half at least would go unanswered. A few put me under personal obligations so that I am at least obliged to write to them. Others who letters may be unanswered will from this learn the reason why. One wants to know "if the lands here are subject to pre-emption?" another "if we get them for nothing or have to pay twenty-five cents an acre, the cost of survey", etc.--Things that are known all over the States weeks before we can possibly know them here, as we are fifty miles in Indian country, and the same distance from Westport, Missouri, our nearest postoffice. Another wants to know "what kind of winters we have here, and what kind of summers?" forgetting that I am just from Ohio, and have not resided in Kansas yet three weeks. Another wants to know "if we have the ague here, and if so, whether as bad as in Illinois?"--a place I never set foot upon--and so on ad infinitum. But hundreds of questions are asked, and so far as I possibly can, I wish to give one general answer. The lands purchased of the Indians embrace nearly fifteen millions of acres; of this, all except about eight hundred acres belonging to the Weas, south of the Kansas river and Iowas, north of said river, are subject to pre-emption. As to the Homestead bill, we know nothing of it here, whether passed or not, or whether it would apply to the Kansas lands or not. I think the Shawnee lands, south of the Kansas river will be the first settled; they appear to be settling fastest between the Kansas and Wakarusa rivers, on the California road.

To reach here, a person coming by the Missouri river should land at Kansas, cross the Shawnee Reserve, thirty miles to Wakarusa ferry and you come to the promised land. As to holding claims here, I refer the reader to the Constitution of the Mutual Settlers' Association, which of course you will publish. These laws will be respected, and justice administered here as peaceably as in the States. Claims are, however, frequently sold by settlers.

I think this Territory is well watered; springs exist in abundance; prairie could not be richer; timber may be scarce in places, yet limestone and coal exist in abundance. Our timber consists principally of walnut, oak, cotton-wood, blue ash, etc. Soil of all kinds, from clay loam to rich, sandy soil; good clay, for brick or potter's ware, can be found. I am at least five hundred feet above the Kansas river, and only three miles from it, on the richest of soil. A pleasant breeze greets us from the southwest; to inhale a draught of it is almost equal to a drink of water. I am satisfied that the country must be healthy, much more so than in Ohio.--Possibly some may have the ague, along the river, or other streams on the low lands. I think no difficulty would be experienced in securing a location for a "colony of any size", where water, timber and stone exist sufficient for all purposes; yet to secure a place now, emigrants would have to go farther west. The Kansas river is nearly as large as the Missouri. Steamboats have been up one hundred and seventy-five miles, to Fort Riley, and I think with small boats it may run that high the year around. There are good water privileges in the Territory. Horses, oxen, cows, and in fact, all kinds of stock are high--cows from \$25 to \$40; oxen, from \$75 to \$100 per yoke; good horses, from \$100 to \$150 per head. All kinds of furniture high--at least one-third higher than in Ohio. Bacon  $8\frac{1}{2}\%$  per lb. Flour, \$3.50 per 100 lbs. Store goods a shade higher than in Ohio. I speak of the Kansas market in Missouri.

Notwithstanding the threats and brow-beating of the Missouriians, the greatest proportion of the settlers here as Northern people--nine-tenths of the balance honest Southerners, who are coming as they say, to get rid of slavery. I was much mistaken in the character of the Missouriians. A few fanatics, who were resolved to extend slavery at all hazards, seem for the time being to give tone to the whole people; but a better acquaintance convinces me that the majority of the people condemned the violent resolutions passed at Westport and other places. But the die is cast. Westport will be another ALTON. Blood is in her heart. Hundreds will shun here; and Kansas, only four miles further, will reap the fruits of her treason.

"Do you apprehend any serious difficulty with slaveholders?" is frequently asked. I answer, no, although they have boasted and threatened much, yet they are not fools, and well know the shedding of Northern blood, to sustain slavery here, would end only with slavery itself. Northern men need not fear; all they have to do is to be true to themselves, and not coward-like, knuckle to the demands of these slaveholders, and padlock their lips, and "wait til the proper time to meet this question". Now is the proper time--now is the time that the slaveholders are moving heaven and earth to establish slavery here; and now is the time, like men, we should meet them, and not like cowards, cry, "Hush, be quiet, don't agitate the question now; wait til we are stronger."

One explanation is necessary here, in speaking of missions, in my last I did not make the proper distinction. My remarks were true as to Johnson's mission; but since I have become acquainted with Dr. Still, a true man, who also has a mission here.

One word to newspapers which copy my articles. Do not put words into my mouth which I never utter. Copy exact from the ERA, or not at all. Much injustice was done me by a former article by a portion of the eastern press. Besides, those who copy my sayings will do me a favor by complying with the "courtesies of the press."

One word to emigrants. Those who have money can do well here. Lands which can be got for nothing now, by paying a year hence Government price, I honestly think in two years will be worth $25 to $30 an acre. No new country ever settled one-fiftieth part as fast as Kansas is now settling. Emigrants arriving in scores; tents are stretched all over the prairies; cabins are going up in all directions. Labor is plenty. A man, though poor, if he can and will work, can do well here. A man with only a team is independent. But to those who have no means, can't nor won't work, Kansas is no place for you. Emigrants must expect to meet some hardships. We have no fine houses to receive you in; everything is inconvenient yet; settlers are generally of the right kind, with pioneer hearts. Society is good; we are all sociable and accommodating, and the person who now has the will, and meets these difficulties, and gets his choice of the lands, will never regret it. Where I in Ohio today, with my knowledge of Kansas, I should lose no time coming back here, pitching my tent, building a cabin, and preparing for living. Understand me, I urge no one to come; for, as in all new countries, many chicken-hearted ones will get homesick and leave. But if you have made up your mind, and are coming, now is the time. The sooner here, the better for you.

I am, truly, yours, Samuel N. Wood

We thank you for the Douglas County records that have been indexed for our "Pioneer" copying. We need them for this next year also.

When you donate articles or information, please either include a xeroxed copy of material or the reference and source for proof reading.

We prefer just Douglas County records. Only some general Kansas information will be accepted.

Your editor,
